RED NOSE DAY 2024

Next Friday (15th March) is Red Nose Day. Children can come to school wearing something red for Comic Relief. This will be a non-uniform day. There will be collection buckets on the playground and in classes if any parents would like to make a small donation. The theme for this year is "Do something funny for money". The whole school competition is "bring a joke to school!"

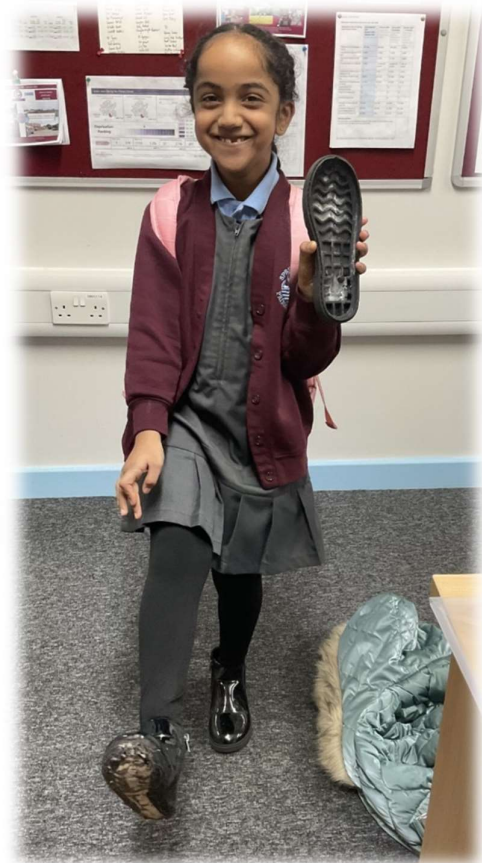

We have now sold out of red noses - thank you so much for your support.

Last Friday Sienna successfully interviewed for the position of trainee teacher at Spring Vale Primary! This came about after Sienna told Mr Blunt in a Well Done assembly that she wanted to be a teacher when she grew up. A week later, I received a job application from Sienna after she had found out that we were indeed advertising for a role of class teacher for the new class that will be joining us in September. Her interview was amazing and we were really impressed with her kindness and knowledge. We wish her every success in her teaching career. Look out for her around the school with her lanyard and whistle!

and finally... we ask our children to work really hard and sometimes use the phrase in education "work your socks off". Mariam took it one step further when she worked so hard her shoe exploded!

How do you think World Book Day should be celebrated?

In the news this week

Across the UK and Ireland, the charity, World Book Day, will be holding its annual celebration on Thursday 7th March. The day is a chance to celebrate and encourage reading in schools and homes. Children are more likely to enjoy reading when they have greater control over what they read and when there is an emphasis on fun, the charity believes. Many schools choose to recognise the day by encouraging children to dress up as their favourite book characters, bringing in their favourite books and holding other reading activities in school.

Things to talk about at home ...

- > Does your school recognise World Book Day? What do you do? Do you enjoy the activities?
- > What other ways do you think we can encourage people to read? Do you enjoy reading? Do you think it's important for people to read more?
